Mr. Peterson told how the laundry business has grown from the finest of linens and fabrics are taken care of in a better way and can be done up finer they can in the home. He told the different processes that bun-dles brought in are put through to assure the best results. He said laundries have done a great deal to protect the buying public in regards to clothing and linens by forcing manufacturers of such goods to put the guaran-tee stamps on their merchandise as to fastness of color and the asshrunk before being made up. In the old days laundries were the toats for all bad manufacturing and paid the losses until-they just couldn't cope with it any longer. Today the manufacturers are cooperating and we are assured of better merchandise with better laundrying result.

Mr. Peterson said, "Grayling has as nice and well equipped laundry as there is anywhere in the north and there is a constant aim for betterment of the plant. the best laundry service.'

The laundry business of today has reached eighth place in na-tional industry. "So," said Mr. tional industry. "So," said Mr. Peterson, as his closing remark, "it is a big job."

HUNTING GUIDES AVAIL-

Hunting guides will again he available this season in many up-state offices of the National Reemployment Service, Major Howard Starret, director, announced today.

"During the summer months many offices provided fishing guides for tourists eager to find the best fishing spots. Starret said. "Last winter the National Reemployment Service brought deer hunters and guides together for their mutual advantage.

The National Reemployment Service maintains 44 district and branch offices in Michigan. Persons interested in obtaining a list of these offices may get them from the NRS office serving the county in which they reside or by writing to the State Director's office, 1702 Washington Blvd. Bldg. in Detroit.

Be it Resolved: That the Board of Supervisors of Crawford County ask the State Highway Commissioner. Mr. Murray D. Van-Wagoner, to rebuild bridge over the School Section Creek on Highway M-208. The bridge now there is very narrow and with dangerous approaches. M-208 was taken over by the State Highway Department several years ago and we hope that the State will be able to correct this dangerous situation.

Salt Can Be Made Useless Matthew 5:13 reads: "Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men." Salt is a definite chemical combination of two elements, sodium and chloride, and cannot lose any of its flavor. But it can be rendered use less by mixing it with foreign mat ter. Perhaps that is the meaning of the loss of savor in the Bible story. In ancient times salt was the symbol of purity.

RADIATOR COVERS

NOT long ago I saw some tests made on a new type of radiator enclosures. The results showed that these enclosures cut down the heat thrown off by a radiator by nearly one-half. The enclosures were ornamental: they were better looking than the radiators. But cutting down the heat by one half means the chilling of a room in which they might be used. There is no satisfaction in this, of course, for a radiator is intended to supply heat. A radiator delivers heat in two ways; heat is radiated from the hot metal just as it is from a fire solid front prevents the radiation of heat from the metal. A cover over the top of the radiator prevents the free upward flow of heated air. Even the best of radiator enclosures check the heating effect to some extent, entirely too great to be considered. For the greatest heating effect, the front of an enclosure should be an open grill that will not check illness dated back however to Study classes, the radiation of heat from the metal the time he served his country in 10:30 o'clos Not long ago I saw a homemade enclosure; a wood frame with the front filled in with diamond metal lath. HUNTERS, BE CAREFUL!

Lansing, Oct. 13—Be careful! Oct. 28th.
That is the advice of state conservation authorities here to those who go afield in Michigan this fall to hunt small game.

The use of extreme caution by all hunters, says the department of conservation, should help to reduce the number of persons annually killed or injured by the accidental discharge of hunting

During the small game hunting of 1936-1987, there 14 hunters who lost their lives and 19 others who were injured in the accidental discharge of the victims of others, while 15 nounced.
